

HELP DISPLACED FAMILIES IN AFGHANISTAN

Since the Taliban regained control of Afghanistan, people have been running for their lives. Throughout the country, families are scrambling to escape, but for those who have to stay behind, they don't know how they'll survive the days ahead.

But today you can meet the immediate needs of displaced families in Afghanistan and other high-conflict areas. For less than the cost of a dinner out, you can provide food, blankets, medical care, and more for one displaced person for an entire week.

THE NEED

Chaos reigns in Afghanistan. Women and girls are afraid to leave their houses alone. Because foreign aid and resources are being pulled out of the country, accessing money from banks is limited. People are out of work, and many are homeless, trying to survive without shelter or food.

For families fleeing the Taliban, there is no escape from these hardships. Either they live under Taliban rule, or they try to live without basic essentials. The few who took possessions with them when they fled are now selling their belongings just to afford food. As winter approaches, these families won't survive without blankets and thick clothing – items you can help provide.

World Help is strategically placed to help displaced Afghans who've fled the country and who are unable to leave.

$35 PROVIDES 1 PERSON

WITH A WEEK'S WORTH OF SUPPLIES

Children in Afghanistan have little food and little hope for the future.

HOW WORLD HELP IS RESPONDING

WITHIN AFGHANISTAN

- We are partnering with local organizations located in the heart of Afghanistan to deliver aid such as food, clothing, hygiene and other disaster supplies to those who have been internally displaced.
- Because they are established and Afghan-based organizations rather than outside agencies, they have been able to continue operating in the area.

WITHIN CENTRAL ASIA

- We are partnering with local organizations located across the region to provide emergency aid to refugees who have recently fled Afghanistan.
- In addition to providing immediate assistance like shelter, food, and water, we are providing long-term resettlement assistance including housing, vocational training, and education.

WITHIN THE UNITED STATES

- In cooperation with federal and state agencies, we are providing assistance to Afghan refugees who have been legally brought to the United States and have been granted asylum or are being considered for asylum.
- The immediate needs of these families include food, clothing, household essentials, and baby care items.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Your donation will help save lives and impact the wellbeing of thousands of refugees and displaced families. Your gift can be the difference between life and death.

Every $35 you give provides one person with a week's worth of supplies.

Give today and help displaced families survive.
