

YOU PROVIDED LIVESTOCK TO FAMILIES IN NEED

Thank you for providing the life-changing gift of livestock to people around the globe this past Christmas!

A goat, chicken, cow, or pig is a huge blessing for someone living in poverty. These animals provide a sustainable source of nutrients, open doors to earn extra income, and some are also a good source of fertilizer for growing healthy crops.

Livestock truly is the gift that keeps on giving! And because of your donation, the lives of men, women, and children worldwide were transformed.

Here are two testimonies to give you a glimpse at the impact you made:

UGANDA: AN ENTIRE COMMUNITY TRANSFORMED

Thanks to the generosity of people like you, a community farm in Uganda received three cows and a flock of chickens!

This farm is a critical part of the community and is used by the local school, church, and others who live nearby. The three cows – which have been named Hope, Peace, and Joy – provide milk which is used to cook a nutritious porridge for students three times a week.

Children and other adults from the area are also learning how to milk the cows and collect the chicken eggs to supplement their diets. They can even sell the farm fresh by-products to earn a small income.

Your gift of livestock provided families with a source of food and income!

And since one of the cows was pregnant when she arrived at the farm, the impact of this gift continues to multiply! Hope recently gave birth to a female calf who will grow up to also benefit the community.

“We want to appreciate World Help and all the supporters,” our partner who oversees the farm said. “Your help is transforming and giving new hope to our people.”

JORDAN: SYRIAN REFUGEE FAMILIES FIND HOPE

During the holiday season, gifts like yours helped provide over two dozen Syrian refugee families in Jordan with goats ... these animals are already making a huge impact!

One of the greatest needs for Syrian refugees is food. There aren't many work opportunities available to refugees, and families often struggle to reliably afford healthy food – but not anymore!

For these families, owning a goat means they will always have access to milk, which can also be used to make things like cheese, butter, and yogurt and help them have a more nutritious, balanced diet. Goat milk has vitamins, minerals, and proteins that people living in poverty couldn't access otherwise. And whatever milk goat-owning families have left over that they don't use themselves can be taken to sell at the market.

“We have no words to express how much the gift of goats has altered our lives,” one person who received a goat said. “As Syrian refugees ... we were upset by the scarcity of resources and the difficulty in obtaining sufficient food, but with goats, many problems are solved. God bless your love.”

Your gift of livestock has made an incredible difference and will continue to do so for years to come.

THANK YOU!
